

3e

1. I agree because the phone is a means of communication with my friends and relatives, and today the phone is not only a means of communication with its help, I spend time, for example, listening to music or watching videos, so it will be hard to imagine life without a phone.
2. In my case, life depends a lot on the phone, because with the help of the phone I get important information. I think that the agreements would not have been broken down if I had not picked up the phone since the place and date of the meeting would have been agreed in advance the main thing is that the person's plans did not change at that moment.
3. I don't consider myself dependent on the phone, but if I'm not busy, I always respond quickly to messages.
4. I had to stay without a phone for a few days when I went on vacation by car. Without a phone, it was inconvenient because traveling by car was boring, so I only felt boredom.

Positive and negative aspects (Advantages and disadvantages) of texting

Advantages

I think that the main advantage of text messages is the constant support of communication with a person, so regardless of your location, we can always write a message to a person.

Disadvantages

The disadvantage in this case is that we do not have personal contact with the person.